

Downloading Security Programs

Secure your network device by downloading antivirus security programs such as Avast or McAfee. For this tutorial, we will be running through Avast.

1. Open your web browser and go to www.avast.com.
2. To download the program, click the blue icon located on the home screen.

3. This button will take you to the different packages Avast offers. Scroll down to view each package's features and select the deal you would like. Take note, the first 30 days are free. Click the blue "Free Download" icon to install the appropriate package.

- You will then be directed to another screen where you should select the green “Download Now” button.

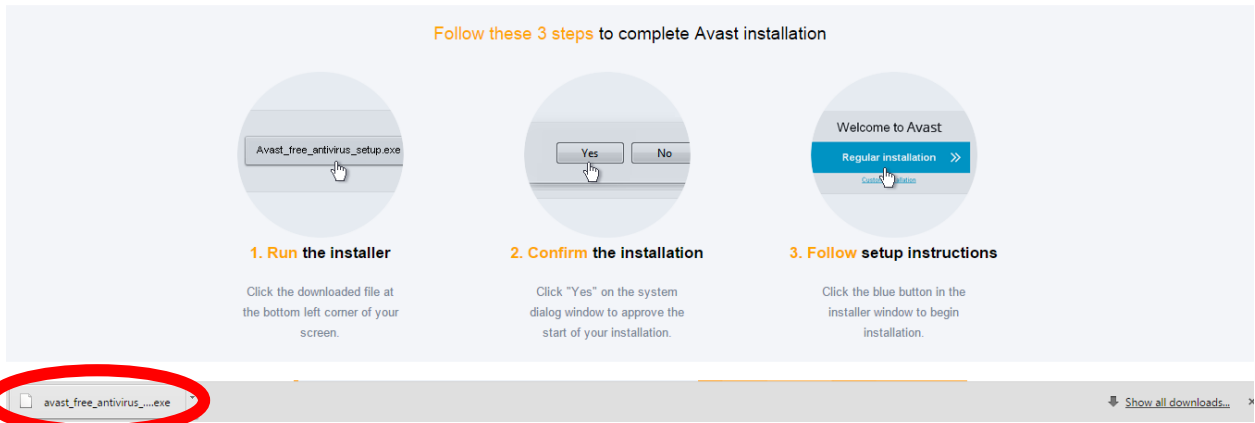

5. Once you select the button, you will be taken to a “Thank you for downloading” screen. Run the installer; confirm the installation; and follow setup instructions.

These directions are also shown on the current screen “Thank you” screen.

Note: If your download did not start automatically restart it here.

6. A similar process can be followed with other security programs. If you are familiar with other programs, such as McAfee, type in the program on your search engine. Make sure to research the features of the packages each company offers, so you understand what you may (or may not) be paying for when you download a security program.
